Tomás: Diego! Did you hear back from the university / school?

Diego: Yes! I got my transcript / acceptance letter yesterday. I still can't believe it.

Tomás: That's great news! Are you going to study full-time or part-time / degree?

Diego: Full-time / In summer. I have to. It's a requirement for my PGWP / study permit.

Tomás: Right, that's important. And what about tuition / admission? Vancouver is not cheap.

Diego: I know. As an international student / teacher, I pay a lot more than a domestic student / classmate. But I found a campus / scholarship. I sent my transcript with the application / admission, and they approved it.

Tomás: That's really good. Where are you going to live?

Diego: I'm going to live in residence / Canada on campus for the first year. It's easier while I get used to everything.

Tomás: That makes sense. The campus / country there is beautiful. What program did you get into?

Diego: Engineering. And it has a exchange program / co-op program. I can get real work experience before I graduate. That was a big reason I chose it.

Tomás: Smart. And when you finish, you can apply for the post-graduation work permit / study permit. You can stay and work in Canada for up to three years after you graduate.

Diego: Yes, that's the plan. First, the scholarship / admission, then the degree / tuition, then stay and work here.

Tomás: You're on the right track. Oh, and keep all your documents safe. Especially your application / transcript. You're going to need it more than you think.

Diego: Already done. Hey, was it hard for you at the beginning?

Tomás: Yes, it was. But every semester gets a little easier. You'll see.
